Small Businesses Relief Team

If you are a small business struggling because of COVID-19, Thatcher Law Firm is here to help. Our Small Business Relief Team has carefully reviewed the various relief packages available to small businesses, and we want to assist you during these challenging times. Our team will provide you with real-time updates on the different loan options for small businesses, help you select the relief program that best suits your business' needs, and guide you through every step of the application process. We understand that this may be an overwhelming time for small businesses. Put your mind at ease by contacting a member of our team.
